Qualitative

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Dr. Baggett's knowledge and expertise in statistics and quantitative research methods is very valuable for a doctoral level research course. He is able to draw from his own personal knowledge and experience to answer student questions, but another nice thing that I noticed was that when he doesn't know something he admits that he doesn't know or isn't sure and then will find the right answer for student questions. I did feel at times that there was a lack of coordination between the co-teachers of this course. This improved as the semester went on. Though it took a little longer than usual to get a grade back on my literature review, I received 4 times the feedback I have gotten on similar assignments throughout this program. The feedback was also relevant, suggested ways to correct errors, and even provided links to APA rules to help me learn the correct rule. Overall, Dr. Bagget was the most involved co-teacher we have had for co-taught courses yet. He contributed far more than others in the past. Having someone that is part of the IRB committee/process for our university is very valuable for students who are learning about the IRB process, research design, etc. I appreciate Dr. Baggett's advances knowledge of statistics and enjoyed learning from him. Looking forward to learning so much more in regards to SPSS. Dr. Baggett is very knowledgeable in this arena and I'm certain he will help us utilize it to the best of our ability. The primary concern was the lack of feedback and timeliness regarding review of literature assignment. I was drawn to this program because of the embedded dissertation concept. I feel that my writing needs work and this program allows me to build my writing as I also build my research. An important component of embedded dissertation is timely and effective feedback which I feel was lacking. My only complaint would be the length of time between turning in an assignment and receiving feedback. I've enjoyed having Dr. Baggett this semester. He's great at explaining the difficult statistics and showing us how to use SPSS.
